Student Union Activities to Host An Evening with George Stephanopoulos

LAWRENCE, Kan.—Student Union Activities of the University of Kansas presents its annual Student Lecture Series: An Evening with George Stephanopoulos Tuesday, April 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the Kansas Union Ballroom on level 5. The event is co-sponsored with the Lawrence Community Shelter, Coca-Cola and the Dole Institute of Politics.

George Stephanopoulos, who hosts ABC's Sunday news show This Week with George Stephanopoulos, will host a town hall format conversation, moderated by Associate Director for Programming at the Dole Instituted Jonathan Earle. Questions for Stephanopoulos will be accepted prior to the event by emailing suasocialissues@gmail.com. Stephanopoulos appears regularly on ABC's Good Morning America, World News, and launched an ABCNews.com blog called "George's Bottom Line". Previously, Stephanopoulos was a senior political adviser to the '92 Clinton Campaign.

“SUA is very excited to have the opportunity to bring George Stephanopoulos to the KU campus. As an influential member of the journalistic community he will provide KU students a unique opportunity to learn from an insider about politics and journalism,” Briana Sanders, Social Issues Coordinator, said.

The event is free and open to both students and the general public. Students can pick up tickets starting Monday, March 2 and the general public tickets are available Monday, March 16. Tickets are available in the Union Programs Box Office located on the 4th floor of the Kansas Union. For more information on this and other events visit the SUA Web site at www.suaevents.com or call the Box Office at 785-864-SHOW.
